NO FUNDS TO FINANCE GIANT CITY BUDGET

Incumbents, Bonds Sweep Ballot

Voters settled Jefferson Union High School district's biggest immediate problems Friday — convincingly backing the $2,900,000 bond issue and the $8 million state loan at the polls.

Both key issues carried well over the needed two-thirds approval. The bonds were okayed by a 4-1 margin, 4196 yes to 1026 no. State aid got the green light, by about 3½-1, with 3952 yes and 1053 no.

Only in Brisbane and Bayshore were the verdicts disappointing, as voters in both areas displayed lethargy over the big issues.

Scorn Facts

Despite documented statements that no tax hikes would result from "yes" decisions, residents of the two unincorporated areas were divided on the bonds and state aid.

In Brisbane, the bonds were approved 487-382. The Bayshore tally on bonds was 91-38. Brisbane reluctantly approved the state aid request, 427-312, and Bayshore's tally was 81-38 for the same measure. Concern over Brisbane's successful tax hike was believed responsible for the wayward results.

In the district's 19 other precincts, both the bonds and state aid projects received top support.

Monies, which the district now will be entitled to because of Friday's outcome, will speed plans for two new Coast high schools, provide for the second increment (more classrooms) to Westmoor, and allow the district to improve the old Jefferson plant.

The district will not get the package sum of almost $11 million in a lump sum, since it will only be eligible for state aid when it is bonded to 90 per cent of capacity.

Important Meet

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan will definitely learn when the monies will be available this week during a conference with Elwood Lehman, state representative.

"Friday's performance by our voters was most gratifying," Morgan told THE RECORD. "It shows they appreciate the problems, and the administration and board of trustees are making every effort to alleviate the many headaches caused by bulging enrollments."

Morgan extended many words of gratitude to members of the citizen's committee, parents and students, "in fact, everyone who made our success at the polls Friday so decisive."

Whitney, Ingersoll Get Convincing High Votes

A record-busting throng of approximately 5550 voters handed two seats on the Jefferson Union High School District board to the incumbents Friday to climax a finely-balanced campaign.

Coastsider Raymond T. Whitney and Daly City's Lyal Ingersoll were swept back into office for three more years via considerable votes of confidence.

Postmaster Whitney, the Linda Maran who also grabbed a seat on the SMJC district board of trustees, was high man in the 21 precincts with 2323 votes. Ingersoll, board chairman the past five years, was a close second with 2072.

Hale Fourth

Possibility of the Coastside gaining a majority on the board was erased as Robert Hale, Laguna Salada trustee from Sharp Park, finished fourth in the balloting.

Sterling Park's Tom Noonan managed a strong third with a total of 1715 votes. Hale got 1367, while Westlake's William A. Larsen, the fifth contender, was far behind with only 950.

Whitney, now entering his second JUHS term, was first in 7 precincts. The surprising Noonan captured five precincts and tied with Ingersoll in a sixth. Ingersoll led in four precincts.

Hale accumulated the most votes in Westview, Pacific Manor, Sharp Park and Vallemar.

Whitney Gains

Whitney compiled much heavier backing than expected in the Westlake area, and particularly in Brisbane. He nudged Ingersoll in Brisbane, 360-358, and in Bayshore, 68-65.

Ingersoll's biggest response came in the Crocker and Woodrow Wilson precincts, with tallies of 227 and 226, respectively. He also prevailed in two Westlake precincts.

Noonan was head man at the following precincts: Colma, Garden Village, Benjamin Franklin and Olympia. His 223 total at Benjamin Franklin was the third highest single precinct tally.

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan was quite pleased with the response at the polls. The 5500 total vote figure for the candidates is unofficial, pend-

Mrs. Mullen Keeps JESD School Post

In one of the tightest battles in years, Mrs. Katherine Mullen regained her post as chairman of the Jefferson Elementary board of trustees Friday by the slim margin of 52 votes.

The incumbent, 704 Stoneyford drive, decisioned James W. Murphy, strongly-backed Westlake salesman, 1309-1257. Both counted on heavy support in their own neighborhoods, with a rundown of the vote showing that ther expectations were about letter perfect.

Beck Trails

William H. Beck, third candidate from Colma, managed just 311 votes. He failed to beat either in any of the 10 JESD precincts.

Mrs. Mullen, a college graduate and mother of three high school children (two at Westmoor), and Murphy, 117 Ashland drive, each captured five precincts.

Murphy's tally of 258 in the Olympia precinct and 201 at the Westlake precinct were his strongest conters. Mrs. Mullen got 226, Crocker-Pershing; 206, Woodrow Wilson, and accumulated more than 100 votes in each of five other precincts.

Ironically, Murphy was ahead

A Peek At Bankruptcy

We, along with councilmen, got a first peek at the 1957-58 city budget Wednesday night, as presented by the city manager and department heads.

In the TV world it might be called a spectacular. In Daly City, it's preposterous.

The figure: $1,463,000. That's $263,000 above the current year's budget of $1,200,850, and $257,374 away from a balanced budget.

The present tax rate is $1.48 per $100 of assessed valuation. Just to get some idea how stupendous Wednesday's figure is, it would take a $2.35 tax rate to finance it.

Daly City does not have that kind of money. The administration is flirting with municipal bankruptcy to even consider a budget of this magnitude.

Since this week was the council's first preview of the budget, no specific cuts were made.

We feel, however, that before the council even begins to consider the budget item by item, they should make a statement of policy calling for a balanced budget.

This means lopping off sundry administrative brass, cutting down office gingerbread and a general department-by-department slashing.

A $1,463,000 budget is unthinkable. The general fund tax rate is only 25 cents below the $1 statutory limit now. Even by raising it to the maximum the city can only bring the $1.48 tax rate to $1.73.

Talk of "other forms of revenue" are only the ramblings of dreamers.

"Other forms of revenue" do not exist. We include the sales tax in this reference.

The manager form of government, which was to have brought us economy, efficiency and services, continues to reap nothing but soaring costs and administrative humbug.

A family with an annual income of $5000 does not spend $7000 a year . . . not for long.

Only in a city government, under a managerial magician can a formula be devised which allows you to spend 20 per cent more than you earn.

But not for long.

Cash $257,000 Short Of $1,463,000 Figure

A staggering 1957-58 budget of $1,463,000 — one quarter of a million dollars above estimated revenues for the coming year—was dropped in the laps of the city council Wednesday.

A tax rate increase of at least 25 cents per $100, bringing the $1.48 figure to $1.73, appeared imminent. And even that total can only be held by whacking some $200,000 off the budget presented by City Manager Howard Stites. Department heads were on hand to explain their requests.

Should the budget as considered Wednesday by the council be approved, it would require a $2.35 tax rate to finance it. This, of course, is impossible, since the statutory limit on the general tax rate is $1. This year's general fund rate is 75 cents, while other facilities not governed by the limit, park, library, bond retirement, account for 73 cents of the current year's tax rate.

As Stites explained, however, major increases are needed in departments which are governed b ythe statutory tax limit. He said the park and library departments could be financed on allocations comparable to this year's.

Already Cut

The $1,463,000 presented to the council had already been whittled down from an original $1,620,624 asked by department heads.

The revised figure is still some $263,000 above this current year's $1,200,850 budget.

Director of Finance Jerome Scharfman said the city's dilemma came about as a result of an anticipated decrease in revenues for the coming year.

He revealed that because of an expected building slump, building permit revenue would drop by $15,000, water meter installation charges by $10,000. Revenue from alcoholic beverage tax will decline $5000, he related.

The increased assessed valuation, estimated at three or four per cent, will not even make a dent in the ballooning costs, he continued.

Even if the council is able to hold the tax rate increase to the reported "absolute minimum" of 25 cents, Daly City property owners will see a sizeable jump in their tax bill next year.

For a home assessed at $3000, the increase will mean an additional $7.50 a year in taxes.

Current rate is $1.48 per $100 of assessed valuation and according to Wednesday's preview, a rate of $1.73 will be a "must" even after major cuts in the $1,463,000 budget.

The automatic step increases for city employees will swell the budget by $64,000. This figure alone, which cannot be

Name Pair To Personnel Board Jobs

An insurance man and an attorney were tentatively named Wednesday night by the council to fill vacancies on the personnel board.

They were: Melford D. Battye, 141 Acton street, insurance man and former city councilman; Albert E. Polonsky, attorney, 12 Fleetwood drive.

They will fill vacancies created by resignations of Clarence Schmidt and John Degliantoni.

Battye served as councilman from 1946 to 1950, is past president of Daly City Lions and Colma Vista Grande Aerie, F.O.E. A resident here 32 years, he has long been active in municipal affairs.

Polonsky maintains offices in San Francisco and lives here with his wife and two children. He has resided in Daly City for 3½ years.

Council will confirm the appointments at Monday's regular meeting.

AMBULANCE OWNER IN NEW FIRM QUITS

Vernon Vogan, one of the partners in the private firm which last week took over Daly City municipal ambulance calls, has abandoned his portion of the business, it was learned today.

Vogan was original applicant for the ambulance contract, which was granted last week by the city council.

Alfred de la Torre, listed as co-owner at time application was made, has taken over sole operation of the business.

de la Torre said his partner left the business for "family reasons." He declared Vogan's departure would not affect the financial status of the firm, since Vogan didn't invest any money in the M. D. Ambulance Service, according to de la Torre.

"If he can see it straight he'll

700 WITNESS CITY'S ANNUAL SPRING AFFAIR

A crowd of 700 persons braved threatening rains to attend Daly City's 10th annual Spring Festival Sunday at the War Memorial community center.

A pre-program concert by Daly City municipal band, under direction of George Brenner, opened the program.

Dee Van Nest, recreation director, welcomed vice-mayor Sanford G. Vickers and Councilman Micheal DeBernardi, who acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

The Spring Festival procession and presentation was highlighted by coronation of Queen Nadine Mignault of Our Lady of Perpetual Help school by Vickers.

The queen's court consisted of: Judy Calcogno, Ramona Lemon, Joanne Price, Lorraine Rice, Donna Gertz, Susan Chiappari, Judy Marjourau, Barbara Jean Bennett, Sheryl Ann Carlascio, Nancy Jane Witt and Gerry Lynn Galindo. Young Richard Ragni served as the queen's crown bearer.

Stage setting, which won high praise from visitors, was designed by Mrs. Joyce Frasu of the Daly City Garden club. The gardeners also supplied bouquets for the queen and her court. Hyers Studio of Music and Shipley and Smith students offered entertainment.

Moral Is Evident: Don't Sell Loot

Harry G. Goodwin, 20, an unemployed mechanic, sold a 17-inch table model TV set last weekend.

Tuesday in municipal court he got a choice of 30 days in jail or $200 fine for making the deal.

Seems Harry didn't own the set. He took it from his cabin at the Mission Bell Motel last Friday. Police said he "hocked" it to a local used car dealer. The latter thought Harry needed the cash and would return later for the set.

Anyway, officers picked Goodwin up Monday in a pub. He drunkenly admitted everything at the station.

Harry couldn't fork over the fine, so Judge Thomas Bocci turned him over to the sheriff's office.

'Miss Daly City' Hopefuls Should Ink For Contest

Local cuties attention! Step right up. You may win the title "Miss Daly City of 1957."

Chamber of Commerce today blurted out plans for the third annual contest. Entry slips are now available. Don't delay. The decision will be made on Friday night, June 7, 7:30 o'clock, in War Memorial building.

Eligible are all unmarried girls, ages 16 to 25, who live within the Jefferson Union High school district. Residence here must have been at least a year. This takes in plenty of territory, so let's have a big field, if you please.

Judges will select the top doll on the following basis:

1. 80 per cent for beauty and figure. 2. 10 per cent each for poise and gracefulness, and personality and manner affected while being interviewed by the emcee.

All equipment necessary (besides nature's supply) is a bathing suit and high heels. There

Daly City reportedly could have received free ambulance service from Broadmoor police department in exchange for providing Broadmoor with radio service.

Broadmoor now pays Daly City $100 a month for a police radio hook-up. Which means Daly City could get ambulance service for $1200 a year.

Our souree for this tid-bit is former city councilman ED DENNIS. Ed, incidentally, says he will not run for city council next April. But don't bet on it.

Melodious names: LANA A. BANA, PG&E employee of 1485 S. Mayfair.

Contractors on the $2 million plus Westmoor high school won't retire off this venture.

The general contractor and all but one "sub" were already on their own money a month ago, and will be a potful in the hole by the time the job is done.

Westmoor High Fears Reduced

Superintendent Edward D. Morgan today calmed fears that the $2½ million Westmoor High would be so far behind schedule that it would be a race to have the ultra-modern plant ready for 1200 students in September.

"We think there's no question that we'll move into the new school this fall," he told THE RECORD. "Classrooms are just about finished, and even if we have to wait on other areas of the plant, we can get by."

Both Morgan and trustees voiced concern last week because contractor Theo Meyer & Sons have failed to inform the district if they would be able to deliver the school by June 24 as per contract.

The Meyer company, citing bad weather and labor conditions for a big delay last year, was granted a 124-day extension on the work in January.

Since then, however, Dick Meyer, through architect Mario Ciampi, has indicated that his firm has had considerable difficulty getting special materials and qualified workers.

Morgan has requested Meyer's presence at next Monday night's board meeting for a complete report on Westmoor.

The contractor's father, Theodore, 64, died early Monday in San Francisco after a short illness. Founder of the firm, he had been in the business 35 years and was regarded one of the major Bay area builders.

Among other things, the elder Meyer had constructed Washington and Lincoln High schools, Parks Air Force Base near Livermore, Miraloma Park, the Francisco Plaza housing project in the Fillmore, numerous apartment buildings and many Army projects.

SARTO SPEAKS

Major League Ball In SM County?

By ROY HURLBERT

Admittedly not trying to steal Mayor George Christopher's thunder, San Mateo county supervisors are reported ready to make a strong pitch for major league ball inside their domain, THE RECORD learned today.

Source of the info is Joe Sarto, operator of the Villa Sanitarium and Daly City's number one baseball backer.

Sarto, claiming that this county has more to offer the major moguls than Christopher, has convinced more than one supervisor that they'd better try again. A couple of years ago, county fathers boomed the idea, but their proposal slowly died.

Almost Certain

This time, what with Brooklyn making goo-goo eyes at Los Angeles, Sarto (like Christopher) knows the chances of the big stuff locally in 1957 are extremely good.

Anyway, with the support of Bill Werder, chairman of the county board, and Thomas Callan Sr., Sarto has the wheels ready to fire-up the old major league-seeking committee.

"This county has many more advantages over San Francisco for major league ball," Sarto told this reporter. "While we are all behind Christopher because he's hustling to land a franchise for this area, we must face the facts."

"Briefly, the advantages for bringing a ball club to San Mateo county (near Fiesta Grounds outside Bay Meadows) should be apparent to the high moguls back East.

The Advantages

"First, the climate is much better. This brings in more patrons. And you know how inconsistent the elements are in SF.

"Second, transportation problems to and from the proposed park (a double decker) would be much less than Christopher's idea for the South Basin site.

"Third, a San Mateo county park would be more centrally located for all Northern California fans. What with trains, buses and the big highways, we'd be much better off.

"Fourth, we could establish parking facilities for at least 12,000 cars. This, you'll find, is a must. Folks don't like to sweat out unnecessary delays to and from the stadium.

"Fifth, we could build a multi-purpose stadium, similar to the Polo Grounds, which would serve many major league sports, even the 49ers.

"Sixth, our land is available (26 acres) and we could finance the stadium on a rental basis with the club owners."

Shrewd Gent

Sarto knows whereof he speaks. He was on the former county committee that tried to woo the big leaguers. Also, Joe knows all the key figures. Guys like Al Lopez, Hank Greenberg, Phil Wrigley and dozens of scouts. Every year, Sarto treks to the Midwest to take in a few games and spread of gospel of the Pacific Coast and its availability for the best in baseball.

Specifically, Joe wants the county committee to immediately steer a course of action. He thinks the reasons will carry his cause. And supervisors, he says, are all for the idea.

Sarto believes the most likely clubs to contact are the Giants and Cubs, in that order. With the Brooklyn move to LA almost a certainty, it's logical that the team coming this way would have to be a National League club.

MOVE IT south is Joe Sarto's proposal for major league ball if he and, county supervisors can convince club owners that San Mateo County has more to offer than San Francisco. Well known for his baseball efforts, Joe and the county fathers suggest the county fair grounds as a better site than Mayor George Christopher's south basin area. The latter isn't too hot about the "outside" proposal.

No Funds To Finance Giant City Budget

reduced, would require raising the general purpose tax 25 cents to the legal limit of $1, meaning a $1.73 total.

"Other Revenue"

Councilmen immediately took up the question of "other forms of revenue" to finance the increased allocations asked by almost every department for extra personnel, facilities.

But nobody had any answers.

Stites asked the council whether they wanted to direct him to strive for a balanced budget, which would mean lopping off $257,374, or whether they wished to consider means of financing the enlarged program.

"What can we say to these department heads," asked Mayor Joseph Verducci. "We have no conception of the budget."

It was concensus of councilman that Stites have the department heads meet with them again to explain their needs and discuss possible methods of financing. Stites said he would have tentative budgets ready for council study Monday.

Stites declared the city "can't balance this budget with present revenue sources. We're being squeezed together. Salaries and cost of commodities go up every year, but revenues stay the same."

ing final returns, he pointed out.

22 Percent

The district has 25,219 registered voters, so Friday's count, though a record at 22 per cent of the total, was much below expectations.

Morgan told THE RECORD: "I publicly wish to thank all who helped in this fine turnout for the candidates, and our all-important bond and state aid proposals. People in this area have shown a strong concern for our schools, and their action Friday proved it."

Ambulance Owner In New Firm Quits

probably come back later," de la Torre remarked of his former partner.

The contract with the city, which provides that the firm maintain one ambulance exclusively for Daly City use on a 24-hour basis, went into effect Monday.

de la Torre said yesterday his company had not yet received any emergency calls of a public nature.

Major League Ball In SM County?

Wrigley, the chewing gum potentate, doesn't have to make money with the Chicubs. He's been operating a losing proposition for years and the Windy City nine is sad indeed. Chicago can get along without the Cubs, even more so now that the White Sox are in full stride.

Giants Likely

As for the Giants, well Joe knows Horace Stoneham is a good businessman and is interested in dough. The Polo Grounders aren't making much. Whether the Yankees should be the only team in the jammed New York area remains to be seen.

Informed of the SM County "revival" by this paper, Mayor Christopher laid the facts down bluntly:

"I'm certainly glad to hear your people (San Mateo county) finally are getting behind this major league idea," he stated. "But I think this late gesture is a feeble attempt and will only confuse the issues and delay our progress with the big owners."

"So far, I've received support from communities throughout Northern California, with the exception of San Mateo county. I think we in San Francisco are in the best position now to get the franchise, and I'm sorry San Mateo county thinks their's is a more suitable site."

"Money and time are the essentials. Right now, Minneapolis is making a heavy bid for the Giants. I do think we've got the New York club almost ready to come here. Any delays, such as this San Mateo County business, will be detrimental. All of us in this area want major ball. But we can't sit on our hands any longer."

Mayor Refutes

Christopher quickly nixed the advantages as suggested by Sarto and company. "We've got the money ($5 million), the contacts, the land, and backing of businessmen. With these necessities accounted for, I can see no reason why people challenge our position. After all, the franchise is for the entire area."

Christopher lauds San Mateo county fans for the idea. But he makes no bones about it. If major league ball is to be landed here, San Francisco is the place for it. He'll risk life and limb on that premise.

Meanwhile, if county bosses are going to do anything about it, they better act hurriedly. Christopher has the big edge. And he deserves the bulk of the credit.

Regardless of how it turns out, we want big league ball here in 1958 or shortly thereafter.

Gentlemen, proceed.

Brisbane Backs Tax, Incumbent

Brisbaners did a turnabout at the polls Friday, approving an 80-cent school tax increase by a 64-vote margin, after rejecting the tax hike earlier this year by three ballots.

The issue, which will raise the Brisbane Elementary School district tax from $1.65 to $2.45 per $100 assessed valuation, claimed victory, 391-327. Earlier this year the tax increase proposal failed at the polls, 312-309.

The single school trustee race, closely allied to the controversial tax issue, found incumbent Louis J. Duncan handily defeating linotype operator Stephen Rewak, 502-310.

In the Bayshore Elementary School district, incumbent Garnet Robertson was unopposed and tallied 105 votes.

Policeman's Son 'Missing Person'

Officer Bob Crooker has more on his mind today than ordinary police duties.

His oldest son, David, age 14, took off Tuesday afternoon and still hadn't returned home at press time.

Crocker said the boy was having difficulties at school, mainly because he didn't want to attend.

The 5-11, 143-pound youth was last seen shortly past noon at Jefferson High two days ago.

Police said the boy had run away before. But they are still concerned.

Westmoor's Hinkle Association Head

George Hinkle, Westmoor High business department teacher, is new president of the Jefferson Union High School district Teachers' association.

Others selected in the recent balloting included two Jefferson instructors: Donnal Behm, mathematics department, vice president; Bernice Koyama, business department, secretary; and Beatrice Moldrup, district testing director, treasurer.

Hinkle succeeds Ada Wood, Jefferson dean of girls, as association president.

won't be any evening gowns—strictly a swim suit special.

"We have hopes this contest will be our biggest, predicted Pete Markovich, C-of-C man-about-town. "Response has been poor in the past. We can't understand why, what with 35,000 or more folks in this area."

Markovich beamed that the winner here will represent Daly City in the San Mateo County Fiesta Queen competition. A win there would shoot the lass into the State Fair finals.

Previous winners in Daly City were Janet Watson ('55) and Rosalind Reinstra ('56).

Lovelies desiring to enter should report to Markovich's office, 6454 Mission street, or call him, PL 5-2262. Immediately, that is.

Jack Kendree will be master of ceremonies.

Panel of judges will consist of: Judge Thomas L. Bocci Jr., northern municipal court; Vince Murphy, Daly City postmaster; Lou Pisani, Bank of America manager; Roy Hurlbert, Marchbanks Publications, and a city councilman, undetermined at press time.

TRIO TO FACE DOPE CHARGES IN MUNI COURT

Three members of an elleged "motorcycle gang" will appear before Judge Thomas L. Bocci this Friday for preliminary hearing on charges of possessing narcotics.

Police foiled the suspected operation May 11 when they raided the home of Henry Kot, 24, at 398 Guttenberg street.

Arrested were Kot's girl friend, Marilyn Battles, 23, and Abraham Katz, 21, both from Sacramento. Kot, not there because he was in custody of San Francisco officers for investigation of auto theft, was booked here late last week.

Kot has been held over to superior court on the auto theft charge.

Found in the raid May 11 were a half a tin full of marijuana and four "reefers" on Katz.

Three other young adults at Kot's residence were released governed by the statutory tax by police after questioning.

School Trustees Scan $228,400 Brisbane Budget

A $228,400 1957-58 budget, slightly higher than the current year's, was tentatively approved Monday at a special meeting of the Brisbane Elementary School district board of trustees.

At the same time, trustees announced that an 80-cent per $100 valuation tax increase, approved Friday at the polls, would be made effective for the coming fiscal year. This will bring the total rate per $100 to $2.45. For a home assessed at $2000, this will mean an annual school tax increment of $16.

The new budget provides for raising minimum teachers' pay from $4000 to $4300, with proportionate raises for teachers with more experience. The extra pay for the district's 22 teachers will raise salary costs by an estimated $8500, according to Natalie Lipman, district superintendent.

The $228,400 budget is only slightly larger than this year's $225,687 figure. Miss Lipman said the increase was necessitated because the beginning fund for 1957-58 is only $23,000, as compared to this year's beginning balance of $63,000.

Jeff Hi District Seeks 15 Workers In 4 Categories

The Jefferson Union High School district is looking for at least 15 workers to add to its classified staff beginning with the fall semester.

Needed immediately are six custodians, five part-time cafeteria workers, three more gardeners, and a skilled auto mechanic.

Fred Goodell, district business manager, has interviewed a few persons for these vacancies, but told THE RECORD "we would like to have many more apply."

For interviews, individuals should contact Goodell at the district office, 375 South Mayfair, Room 214, or call him at PL 5-1162.

Main reason for hiring new personnel is the scheduled opening of Westmoor High in outer Westlake.

JUHS District Adds 7 Teachers

The "to-be-hired" new teacher list for Jefferson Union High School district was reduced last week as trustees granted 1957-58 contracts to seven instructors, five of them for Westmoor.

Joining the new school's faculty will be: Rodney Crittendon, mathematics; Miss Mary Holden, English department; James Jordan, mathematics; Frank Lawler, industrial arts, and Mrs. Janet Sweeney, homemaking.

Jefferson additions will be Miss Elsie Bernard, mathematics, and Richard Landucci, arts and crafts.

The district will have 21 new teachers next September. Ninety-seven currently staff the two schools.

Power Line Mishap Cuts Off Brisbane

Heavy winds Wednesday night knocked down a power line in Brisbane, cutting off electricity for almost two hours.

The mishap occurred on Visitacion avenue near Old County road. Firemen stood by with radio sets at fire alarm boxes until repairmen mended the damage.

Daly City's May 9 civil service examination for the position of fire captain may have to be taken over again.

During the last exam the fire alarm sounded and most of the test-takers had to leave right in the middle of the examination.

Realtor GEORGE HARRISON, who only recently opened his own business, lost a $120 typewriter when a theif invaded his Junipero Serra office, shared with FRED BARGIONI, last week.

"It was nothing," said George. "Just the only piece of office equipment I had."

When Westlake Lutheran church starts construction of its new building this summer on a two-acre site at Avalon drive and Westmoor avenue, Chinese architect ROGER LEE will be doing the designing.

Lee, a Berkeleyite, formerly taught modern architecture at UC.

"We expect an outstanding structure," says Pastor CHARLES CHRISTIAN.

The appeal of DAVE JOHNSTONE, Daly City police inspector who was fired on charges that he associated with a known gambler, is due to hit the district court of appeals within a few weeks. Johnstone has unsuccessfully carried the matter to the lower courts in nearly two years of litigation.

It could go on that much longer.

Narcotics Suspect Eludes Conviction

Eva Fernandez, a Daly City teenager with many aliases, escaped prosecution on a charge of narcotics possession in municipal court Tuesday due to a legal technicality.

Judge Thomas Bocci, on recommendation of the deputy district attorney, ruled that the police search and seizure at the girl's home on May 2 was illegal.

Little Eva, picked up in a San Francisco phone booth on suspicion of making dates as a "call" lady, gave officers permission to invade her residence, they testified. In court, she claimed otherwise.

Garibaldi Street Extension Costs Up To Residents

After weeks of discussion, the city council decided Wednesday that residents on Garibaldi street would have to bear full cost of extending their dead-end street through to Hillside boulevard.

Residents had asked that the city participate in the project, which will cost an estimated $12,300. The Garibaldi owners would be assessed from $140 to $380 apiece to pay for the project, should sufficient signatures be obtained to form an assessment district.

in returns until the last precinct was reported, a factor that left both front-runners in a peak state of anxietv.

The turnout of 2877 voters was a record for a district election. Superintendent H. Z. Weibel congratulated each candidate for his interest in the campaign. "It was a good, close race," he told THE RECORD.

Mrs. Mullen's new term will run for three years.

Jeff Pool Swim List Mounting

Mike Orlich won't have any trouble filling the Jeff High pool with warm bodies this summer.

Sounding the signup call last week, the gent has been deluged with early returns.

After Tuesday night's entries, Orlich had enough to fill two of the 10 planned classes. Each class will handle 380 students.

No wonder the head man thinks the total turnout will exceed last year's 2100.

Anyway, for those of you who want to register for the super swim program, costing only $2.50 in all, the deadline to turn in slips is this Friday night. See Orlich at the gym from 7 to 9.

Chamber Golf

Sign-ups for Daly City Chamber of Commerce's third annual golf tournament indicate a field of at least 150 will participate in the June 6 event at Lake Merced club.

Some 40 prizes will be offered in the one-day competition, which will feature sub-par golfers, as well as a sizeable contingent of swingers who score in three figures.

Already entered are Ed Castagnetto, former San Francisco city and Northern California champ, Bob Silvestri, former state amateur king, Einar Hansen, one of the top Bay area linksmen, and Art Linhares, Daly City's golfing policeman.

The $10 tariff will include green fees and dinner.

Play will be held in three flights, with prizes for low net and low gross in each division. In addition, blind bogey competition will be held and a hole-in-one contest.

VOTERS BLUE CHIP INVESTMENT

We commend the foresight and concern of Jefferson Union High School district voters in giving overwhelming approval Friday to a bond issue and state loan totalling nearly $11,000,000.

The 4-1 support given the two issues gives administrators the go-ahead to proceed with construction of much-needed Coast high schools, increments at Westmoor and improvements at the older Jefferson plant.

We, like most of the public, are hesitant to back any issue which involves further governmental expenditures unless the need is clear-cut.

In this case, the district's needs were crucial.

We saw it that way, and so did a sizeable majority of the voters who turned out Friday.

This area's voters are penny-wise, which is laudable, but when it comes to adequate education for their youth, they are not pound-foolish.

Friday's bond and state loan "yes" votes are a blue-chip investment.

UP IN SMOKE and a huge hole was the sorry aftermath Friday following removal of the city's biggest "dud," a 28,000 gallon former wine tank near Westlake reservoir that couldn't hold water. Maintenance man Herbert Leahy views the hard facts. Councilmen angrily demanded that bids be advertised for a new tank. The city manager hopes this second venture won't end up in similar folly.

Village Notes

By Gwin Mitchell

PL 5-0679

Jessie West of South Mayfair took time off and went to La Jolla to spend a long weekend with her sister, Mary Louise Breon. The sisters, what with families and homes to care for, had not seen each other for seven years, so it was a joyous visit indeed. Meanwhile, Tom W. stayed home and coped with things.

Kay and Carlos Mattson gathered up their three young ones and left Midway for a short visit with Ed and Nubia Bodie, who used to live next door, in Modesto. And Gordon and Ruth Stewart, also ex-Midwayites, came back to visit their old friends for a day. They now live in Sacramento. Incidentally, they brought back the news that their daughter Audrey is engaged.

Thirteen-year-old Jean Lutringer of Alder had a very bad time of it with an emergency appendectomy not so long ago. It put him flat for 3 weeks, but he's back at school now, though he still has to be careful. Both Jean and his mother, Velma, want to thank all the friends and classmates who sent him cards and good wishes during his illness, and also to thank Herb Stettler and Scout Troop 129 for standing by a pal in difficulties.

New Villagers

A first baby for Bob and Beverly England of Stoneyford — and her name is Deborah Karen. She weighed 7 lbs 7 oz, and is quite the most important person in the England family as far as her parents are concerned.

Another Stoneyford resident in new standing is Barbara Joan Horn. Arriving at 9 lbs 4 oz, she is the pet of parents Joe and Joan, and especially of sisters Carolyn and Mary-Kathryn and brother Jamie.

Ken and Elizabeth Arntz of MacArthur now have four small ones, and Susan has another brother. Paul Underwood, 9 lbs 6 oz, makes a trio of boys in the family; Teddy and Bobby are the two big brothers.

Mosaics

Give due credit to Dot and Lou Manis and family of Village Lane. They laid some 1100 lbs of inch-chunk marble mosaic in their back patio — by hand, every blessed piece of it. It covers some 300 square feet, minus space for flower beds, and looks beautiful, since the marble is in different colors.

Congratulations to Cmdr. Art Bullen, also of Village Lane. He has just been elected president of the California Society of Professional Engineers for this coming year, and was installed at the annual meeting in San Jose recently. The statewide group has chapters in most sizeable cities, and is part of a parent national organization.

While at the state PTA convention in Long Beach recently we ran into ex-Villager Gloria Johns, who was attending as newly elected president of Glen Oaks PTA in Millbrae. She said to say hello to everyone up this way for her. Incidentally, the convention was excellent, and the Frivolous Five, all new presidents from this area, had a fine time. And can it rain down that way!

Odds and Ends

Manuel Silva, janitor and boon companion to all Garden Village school students, is now a Larchmont resident. . . The Heick family is moving from Thornhill to the Palisades. . . . Happy anniversary to Bradley's Magnussons. . . Commiserations to Mike and Dorothy Orlich and their measle-spotted son. . . Gale Galusha has joined the ranks of homeowners who are building summer cabins in spare hours. His is up near Calistoga. . . . The rumble is going around that the sidewalk project for 87th street has fallen through. Villagers who wade through dust on one side or teeter on a slippery ledge on the other aren't happy. . . We watched several fathers of the Stewart street clan beating frantically at the top of Bob Northrup's tree the other day with all sorts of implements. Found out they were trying to get rid of a whole tribe or two of bees.

While we're here we want to remind you of the Scout-O-Rama, which will be held in San Mateo on May 31 and June 1. Cubs and Scouts hereabout are selling tickets, so buy yours now for fun and a good cause. Hours are 6 to 10 on Friday, the 31st, and 2 to 10 on Saturday, the 1st.

Fish Story

Young Cal Courtney isn't worrying about the ones that got away. He's just plain happy about the fish he caught, his very first. He and his family went to Novato dam on a fishing trip, and now Cal is telling his friends on Louvaine all about it. Quite something, when you consider that he isn't quite three yet.

All the many friends of the Unthank family are unhappy. Frances and Edgar and the children will be leaving Thornhill all too soon, courtesy of an Army transfer. They'll be greatly missed, especially by Frances' sister, Elizabeth Arntz and her family.

That happy smile John Belforte, 5th grade teacher at GV school, is wearing can be attributed to new baby daughter, Cathy Marie. Wife and mother Fran is equally delighted with her 8 lb 1 oz girl, and small brother Johnny is in seventh heaven.

Get well wishes of a special sort to fellow columnist Eleanor Doyle, who recently underwent a sudden emergency appendectomy. From all reports, she's on the mend, and we hope she's back in action soon. Of course it's not the way one might choose, but it is a way for a very busy gal to get a little rest!

Ram Tales

by Ron Bosc

Spirit Week gave us lots of excitement. A big rally Friday (classes represented in different colors) capped it. A plaque went to the class showing the most enthusiasm.

Yearbooks for Westmoor are out this year. Just not enough funds. It doesn't make us feel too badly, though. We don't have seniors yet. Next year should be different.

Senior rings (for class of '58) have been sold. And are they beauts! They are gold with green stones and a ram's head. Makes us real proud.

Campus Capers

Westmoor and Jeff's C.S.F. students recently toured San Jose State and Stanford. About 40 went on the junket, accompanied by faculty advisors Miss Schmidt and Miss Slater. First stop was San Jose, then Palo Alto.

Science clubbers enjoyed themselves May 8 when teacher Delzell took them on a tour of Fuller Paint company. Our folks learned many helpful things about chemistry.

Girls Tri-Y Club has submitted its constitution to the executive board for approval. Yearly dues for the club is set at 75 cents (for YWCA), with an extra 25 cents per semester required for the club itself.

Profs Win

Westmoor's varsity golfers lost to the faculty recently at Lake Merced. Good accounts were given by Jim Roman, Sam Malta, Jim Garrison, Mark Fledderjohn and Don Hendrick. First campaign for our linksmen resulted in a 1-4 practice record. Win came over Jeff, no less. But the Indians weren't all there. Don't take this the wrong way!

Mr. South, our principal, thanked the student exec board recently for its work in publicizing last week's high school bond election. Like Jefferson, we sent out letters to parents urging them to vote "yes."

Adding Machine Loss Stumps All Parties

Insurance man Robert E. Watson and police were puzzled Monday after the mysterious disappearance of a $200 adding machine from the Occidental Life office at 375 South Mayfair over the weekend.

Other valuable equipment in the office, room 216, was untouched. And there were no signs of forced entry.

Watson said at least 15 persons have keys to the establishment.

Stormy Westlake Bookmaking Case Nears Showdown

The big Westlake bookmaking expose in March will near a climax this Friday when opposing attorneys follow up on the stalemated case before Judge Thomas L. Bocci in municipal court.

Nick Balich, 33, a San Francisco fireman, pleaded not guilty to bookmaking last week before Bocci waiving preliminary hearing. He has been held over to superior court for trial.

Balich and two other suspects, Attilio Spagnulo, 25, and Gloria Dalri, 28, were nabbed in the raid on a South Mayfair avenue residence.

Attorney for the latter pair sought dismissal of the bookmaking charges, claiming the evidence taken was illegal because the raiding Daly City and San Francisco officers gained entry by saying they were "termite inspectors."

The defense lawyer also claimed that the raiders were not investigating the alleged bookie operation, but were after Miss Dalri on abortion charges.

Howard W. Hartley, chief assistant district attorney, contends that the search was legal, citing that officers had a warrant for Miss Dalri's arrest on abortion charges. The fact they uncovered the bookmaking scheme was just part of their job, Hartley maintains.

Waiter Must Pay $280 For 'Error' In Stabbing Case

A drinking spree in Westlake on the morning of May 8 cost waiter Peter J. DeGregorio, 46, a total of $280 in municipal court Monday.

The incident resulted in the stabbing of salesman Ruben Kundert, 155 Crestwood drive, who said DeGregorio, a Westlake Joe's employee, invaded his apartment and a scuffle ensued.

Caught a few minutes later outside the apartment, DeGregorio was booked for assault with a deadly weapon and burglary.

The first charge was reduced to misdemeanor assault and battery Monday, with the waiter pleading guilty. The second count was dismissed.

Judge Thomas L. Bocci suspended a jail term on condition DeGregorio pay a $200 fine, $40 for Kundert's medical expenses, and another $40 for the salesman's lost work time. Kundert's wounds fortunately were superficial.

According to police, DeGregorio mistakenly entered the apartment, due to his intoxicated condition. His "weapon" proved to be an ordinary kitchen utensil, used by restaurant personnel.

Box Worker Hurt

A 58-year-old Colma Box Company worker was hospitalized Tuesday after he fell from a truck, suffering a broken leg.

Taken to Junipero Serra hospital was Carl Kaiser, 115 San Pedro avenue. The accident occurred at the plant, also at 115 San Pedro.

Letters To The Editor

JUHS Superintendent Lauds Bond Coverage

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

On behalf of the board of trustees, faculty and students of the Jefferson Union High School district, I would like to thank you and your staff for the outstanding support rendered by your newspaper on behalf of our recent high school bond election. The success of any endeavor is based upon adequate publicity. Your paper was more than generous in bringing the facts to your readers.

With best personal regards, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

EDWARD D. MORGAN
JUHS Superintendent

COASTSIDER SAYS JUHS HELD BACK 'KEY' BOND FACTS

Dear Editor:

If you will note the postmark (May 16) this was written before last week's election returns, but after election, as it is meant to be non-political.

I feel that the bond issue will pass, as the people of our community have no other choice but to vote for it to prevent drastic delay in our school construction program. However, I believe that Proposition 1 was not proper and question whether it is legal. Proposition 1 will obtain authority from the voters to bond the district for $2,900,000, which by far exceeds the bonded indebtedness allowable by law. The law allows a bonded indebtedness of 5 per cent of the assessed valuation. Jefferson High School District has an assessed valuation of $64,860,618.00 ending June 30, 1957, giving $3,388,692 allowable indebtedness.

The district now has $2,580,000 outstanding bonds, which would allow an additional $758,692 plus amount repaid, if any. On passing Proposition 1 the voters will not be called upon, nor will they have any effective rebuttal of any disatisfaction, as a vote will not be required until the assessed valuation of the district reaches approximately $115 million, which is estimated to be from seven to ten years from now. The proposition which we voted on last week should have asked the authority for maximum indebtedness ending June 30, 1959.

I am giving this report, as our elected officials have again failed to point out all the facts which the public deserve to know, where their funds are envolved. I don't believe we as citizens have the legal or moral right to create such long-term indebtedness, and certainly the people deserve to be correctly and fully informed on their tax dollars. I believe the Coastside veterans should form a political council to air these matters in view of the repeated mistakes. Anyone interested?

Claude H. Roberts,
Coastside citizen.

TV and Radio

FROM MILAN, ITALY

Above fleecy clouds winging our way across the United States . . . over the ice of Newfoundland . . . over the Atlantic ocean . . . Ireland . . . Paris . . . Geneva . . . above the majestic Alps which towered above the clouds . . . the giant TWA Constellation carried us smoothly to our destination: Milan, Italy. We were in Europe as part of a tour conducted by Mille Miglia Motors of San Francisco to watch Italy's 1,000-mile road race.

After arriving at our hotel, one of the first people we met was Giordano Bruno Lupetina, well-known columnist for "Il Giorno," one of Italy's leading newspapers. He graciously offered to serve as our interpreter, and made arrangements for us to visit RAI-TV, Italy's radio and television network, the next day.

Video Outlook

The following afternoon, as we stepped out of the small Fiat taxi, we were really impressed by the magnificent modern RAI-TV that met our eyes. We talked to Signor Gaziano Motta, director of public relations. He explained that programs have been telecast in Italy for only three years, although there were experimental programs prior to that. Stations are located in Milan, Rome and Turin. Shows range from children's programs, women's fashions, variety shows to educational programs, such as one which teaches a course in English. What impressed us as much as the magnificent studios was the thoroughness with which programs are produced. One show we watched had been 12 days in rehearsal, of which five were before the camera.

Plush Layout

After our interview with Motta, we were taken on a tour of the studios by Signor Charles Daldirola, studio inspector. We visited first the etensive wardrobe department where all the costumes for the many live productions are made . . . on to the prop department, where artists were busy painting scenery . . . the control rooms . . . other studios . . . the make-up department . . . and last to a show which was being filmed for telecasting the following Saturday. With two of Italy's leading stars, Signorina Padovini and Signor Carlini in the starring roles, the telecast was a smooth and finished production.

Last night as we sat sipping "caffe" at a sidewalk cafe and watched large crowds around a television set in a store window, we could understand their enthusiasm. The people of Italy can be justly proud of their fine television programs.

RED CROSS GETS 24 APPLICATIONS FOR QUAKE AID

Twenty-four applications for disaster relief assistance from the San Mateo County Chapter of Red Cross have been received to date. Nine are from Westlake, 13 from Daly City, one from Colma and one from Sharp Park, according to Edward George, disaster chairman for the local chapter.

An awards committee composed of citizens of the Daly City area, under the chairmanship of Robert Watson, met last month to review the first 10 cases. They met again last week to consider the remaining applications.

Applications for assistance may still be made through the local Chapter at 1449 Bellevue avenue in Burlingame.

Watson pointed out that assistance is given on the basis of need—not loss—and assistance is being confined to repairs of structural damage and to those conditions which create a hazard.

Estimates are not yet all in, the Red Cross said, but it is thought grants by the chapter for assistance will run somewhere in the neighborhood of $5000.

BUMPER CROP SEEN FOR '57 KINDERGARTEN

A bumper crop of 950 children are expected to be enrolled in Jefferson Elementary School district next fall.

Last week's registration total hit 857, as compared with last year's 739 initial sign-up. The total enrollment is expected to reach 950 by the time September rolls around.

The record kindergarten class will not affect classroom schedules, however. Triple sessions will still prevail at the schools.

Parents will be notified this summer which school their child will attend, teachers and hours.

Breakdown of registration at the eight local schools is as follows (children do not necessarily attend the school were they registered): General Pershing, 87; Woodrow Wilson, 110; Jefferson, 33; Colma K-6, 110; Garden Village, 119; Westlake, 78; Olympia, 129; Benjamin Franklin, 191.

Daly City Folks Get Free Polio Shots Saturday

A special polio immunization clinic for all living in the north county area will be held this Saturday morning at Daly City's War Memorial building, 144 Hillside boulevard (at Mission and Alp streets).

The clinic, especially designed for persons 1 to 40, who have been unable to attend other clinics, will run from 9 to 11:30 o'clock.

All individuals under 21 must have signed consent of parents or guardians. Tots must be brought by adults.

Possibility of another clinic here in the near future is uncertain due to limited vaccine supply.

The clinics, spread throughout San Mateo county, are sponsored jointly by the county health department and the county medical society.

Clinics at the county health center, 225 37th avenue, San Mateo, are scheduled on the mornings of May 29 and June 1. Number to call is FI 1-1361, extension 202.

CITY CALLS BIDS FOR WATER TANK

Bids for a 50,000 gallon tank to replace the temporary Westlake tank that didn't come up to snuff were called for this week.

The bids, which ask alternate proposals for wood or steel tanks, will be opened at the June 10 council meeting.

The 28,000 gallon cistern that failed to pass health department purity tests was hauled away last week by the original owner, T. E. Brown of San Leandro.

A temporary water storage tank is needed at the Westlake site to supply residents of that area while the main reservoir, cracked during the March 22 earthquake, is being repaired.

The "impure" tank cost the city $800, plus $600 for installation, but City Manager Howard Stites claims that the city will not be held responsible for the original cost or the installation.

CD HEADQUARTERS AT SEWAGE PLANT

Installation of a temporary civil defense control center at the North San Mateo County Sanitation district plant started Wednesday, under terms of an agreement between the city and sanitation district.

District directors approved the agreement Monday, with the stipulation that the city remove all temporary partitions and equipment when the permanent center is opened in the PG&E building on Edgemar road.

Directors also approved an agreement with the city which provides for a $26 charge to the district for raising manholes.

Mains and manholes in Henry Doelger's Westlake Unit 9 were accepted with the proviso that Doelger would accept all responsibility for maintenance of the facilities after the subdivision reached three-fourths of completion.

Joy-Journey Jeep Slightly Dislocated

There's something about a jeep that makes it irresistible.

Bruce M. Smith, 71 Garden Grove, reported his stolen Saturday.

Santa Cruz police recovered the 1948 vehicle Tuesday in Watsonville.

Missing from the jeep was Smith's .22 caliber sports revolver in a bag. Also, a whole tank of gas.

High[illegible] Salary [illegible] Approved

Elated by [illegible] last week, Jef[illegible] High School dist[illegible] of the roll up their sleeves [illegible]o do Monday night with[illegible]on as agenda.

Superintendent Edw[illegible] Morgan said he would r[illegible]mend that the board adop[illegible] 1957-58 salary schedule as[illegible] quested by the JUHS Tea[illegible]ers Association.

If approved, the pay hike would amount to 5.72 per cent, costing the district an additional $39,280 over its present outlay for 97 teachers. Each of the district's 118 teachers next fall would realize a $332 increase in yearly pay.

Salaries of Morgan, business manager Fred Goodell, and principals John Mongan and Glenn South will not be enlarged.

Morgan figures the board needs more time to study the 1957-58 salary schedule proposed by the classified employees, so he'll ask that the matter be tabled next week.

In other main business, Goodell will seek trustee approval on the bulk of the bids of Westmoor and Jefferson furniture and equipment.

Morgan, Goodell and the principals have spent countless hours lining up these many items. Their recommendations will be based on the district's financial situation and desirability of the individual items as suggested by staffs of the schools.

Monday evening's session begins at 7:30 in the district office, 375 South Mayfair, room 214.

Trustees To Canvass Bond-State Aid Vote

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School district will convene at a special meeting this Friday night to officially canvass last week's bond and state aid vote.

The routine procedure, according to Superintendent Edward D. Morgan, will find the board opening all precinct envelopes and re-tallying the results.

The bonds carried by a 4-1 margin and state aid was approved by a 3½-1 ratio, thus entitling the district to almost $11 million in needed funds for the next four years.

Carpenter Stops, But No Stop Sign; He'll See Judge

San Francisco carpenter Thomas Leslie Pruett, 27, not only had the wrong answers but he didn't ask the right questions when picked up by Broadmoor police officer George Carleton Saturday morning for drunk driving.

Carleton tailed Pruett when he noticed the latter's car stop suddenly at San Pedro road intersection while travelling north of Junipero Serra.

After observing Pruett weave over the white lines several times, Carleton stopped the carpenter. Asking Pruett why he stopped on the highway, Pruett replied with question, "Didn't you see the red stop light there?"

"Didn't you stop for it," Pruett questioned further.

Carleton replied in the negative, pointing out that there was no stop sign on Junipero Serra at that point.

Pruett was asked to submit to a sobriety test at Junipero Serra hospital. He flunked.

The errant driver is out on $500 bail and will appear in municipal court this Thursday.

Two Soldiers Exceed 'Service Day' Spirit

Too much Armed Forces Day gaiety caught up with two of Ft. Scott's NIKE soldiers in Westlake Saturday afternoon.

Piloting a GI ambulance down Skyline, the pair got a little confused and pulled off the shoulder of the road, getting stuck in the mud.

A policeman arrived to determine the problem. Adrion L. Chandler, 23, the driver, was booked for being drung in a vehicle. His buddy, James A. Cassidy, 22, was cited for being plastered.

Both wound up their celebration in custody of military police.

Grab Westmoor Pair For Raiding Stores

Two Westmoor High youths, both from Linda Mar, got stern lectures from sheriff's officers and parents late last week after they were nabbed for shoplifting in Westlake.

The boys, one a soph and the other a freshman, were halted leaving Town and Country market. Police confiscated six phonograph records and some candy.

The students said they didn't have much to do after getting out of school shortly past noon. They took the candy bars from Woolworths before invading the market.

New Civil Service Rules Finalized By Council, Board

Councilmen and personnel board members polished off final revisions on new civil service rules and regulations in a two-hour session Monday night.

After minor changes, the bulky document received unanimous acceptance. Last week the council and personnel board deliberated for six hours on the revisions.

Copies will be available this Friday for review by city employees and the public, according to Fred Avilez, administrative assistant.

Before the new rules can be formally approved, a public hearing must be held. Mid-June has been set as tentative time for the hearing, which will be held before the personnel board.

Daly City's more than 100 city employees are anxiously awaiting release of the rules. They have long pressed for changes in some sections of the civil service law which they term outmoded.

Westlake Lutheran Adds 18 New Members, Tells Building Plans

Westlake Lutheran church added 18 persons to its membership Sunday at the morning worship service which was concluded by Holy Communion.

Welcomed to the congregation were: Mr. and Mrs. John Yambert and Johanne, Mrs. Kay Wooster and Penny, Buddy and Timothy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Perry Gordon and Eloise, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Millar and Geoffrey and Nanette, Winfield Scott, Wilford Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Beerbower.

Rev. Charles Christian, pastor, announced the beginning of a new Adult Inquiry class this Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock. It will convene at the parsonage, 87 Ocean Grove avenue, and will consist of five periods of instruction about the Lutheran church as based on the Bible. All persons interested in learning Lutheran philosophy are welcome. Although the class is a preparation for membership in the congregation, one is not obligated to join if he enrolls in the class, Reverend Christian pointed out.

Christian said the young congregation, which held its first worship service in July, is "growing in a rapid manner."

Westlake Lutheran meets temporarily in Broadmoor Community Center, with Sunday school at 9:15 a.m. and worship service at 10:30 a.m.

Preliminary plans for the new church have been approved and construction will begin in about nine weeks. The church will be built on a choice, two-acre site at Avalon drive and Westmoor avenue in Westlake. The congregation hopes to move into the new plant in November.

Anyone desiring information about the church or the services of Pastor Christian should contact the latter at PL 6-4373.

5th Bayshore-Brisbane Spring Fete 'Success'

"Very successful" was the tag given the fifth annual Spring Festival of the Bayshore and Brisbane school districts Sunday at Bayshore school.

Featured were the combined orchestra and chorus of both districts and folk dancing.

Sharing maestro duties were Bayshore's James Sharpen and Brisbane's Richard Smith.

'Day At Beach' Just Too Lively For 14 Imbibers

A "friendly" beach party turned into an old-fashioned boozers' brawl Sunday night, causing four Daly City cops to converge on the Mussel Rock area to arrest 14 spirited young guys and dolls.

Getting a report that a gang fight was underway and knife threats were heard, the gendarmes sped to the scene in all haste.

They found the nine lads and five female friends taking sides in a scuffle involving two of the "more oiled" youths. There seemed to be no big reason for the skirmish, except officers noted that all 14 were in various stages of intoxication.

Anyway, five of the celebrants were booked on drunk counts, while the rest, including two sailors off the U.S.S. Rochester, were turned over to juvenile authorities, parents and armed service police.

Ranging in age from 16 to 20, the mob almost had quite a time for themselves. Most of them were San Francisco high school students.

Taken as evidence were a carton of six-pack beer and an unopened pack of stout. Empty bottles were strewn all over the place.

"Let's help the ones that never let us down," urges local Auxiliary president Jean Chauses.

WHITNEY 'STUNS' GAGGERO, HIMSELF IN SMJC OUTCOME

Coastsider Ray Whitney surprised even himself Friday when he "upset" former Daly City mayor Anthony J. (Tony) Gaggero for a job as trustee on the San Mateo Junior College district board.

Whitney, also re-elected to the JUHS board and defeated in the Laguna Salada race, had 6012 votes to Gaggero's 5894. Top man, however, was incumbent Robert Tarver, San Mateo, with 9280.

Fourth candidate, optometrist Robert Rosenberg of San Mateo, had 3329 votes.

Whitney, informed of his conquest by THE RECORD, was speechless. Gaggero was ahead for the runnerup post until the final hour.

358 JUHS Students At CSM; President Cites 2nd JC Need

During the college year of 1956-57 here have been 358 residents of Jefferson Union High School District enrolled at College of San Mateo, according to a report submitted to junior college district trustees by Julio L. Bortolazzo, CSM president.

Of the 358, Bortolazzo said 84 registered for the current spring semester full-time day program and 164 are enrolled in Adult Center classes.

In addition to these students, the report showed that a considerable number of Jefferson Union High School District residents have registered at San Francisco City college in the day and evening programs. Such students attend City college under district agreement by which junior colleges accept students from other districts on a reciprocity basis.

Dr. Bortolazzo presented this report to indicate the need for the San Mateo Junior College District to move toward a junior college site in the northern section of the county in present long-range planning. The district now supplies tickets for transportation by public carriers to the College of San Mateo from Daly City and two station wagons to transport students to and from Sharp Park.

With the increasing numbers of Jefferson Union High School district students seeking junior college education, Dr. Bortolazzo considers the addition of a northern site "imperative to meet future projected enrollments" at College of San Mateo.

Episcopals Hear Prison Chaplain

"Religion Can Be Fun" might well have been the title of a talk Thursday evening by the Rev. Ted W. Ewald to St. Martin's Episcopal Woman's auxiliary, meeting at the vicarage, 94 Palmdale avenue.

Father Ewald, chaplain at San Quentin prison and rector of Holy Innocents church, Corte Madera, brought out the lighter side of his work in prison and parish with many humorous anecdotes.

In developing his topic "Why Am I An Episcopalian?" he described four distinguishing features of the Episcopal church, as follows: Its reverence for and reliance on Holy Scriptures as a basis of worship, its statement of beliefs in the Apostles and Nicene creeds, its principal sacraments, baptism and communion, and its preservation of the apostolic succession from St. Peter to the present time through its episcopate.

Describing the work of Holy Innocent's woman's auxiliary, the speaker also mentioned an annual fund-raising project which has proven successful. Emulating the Biblical parable of the "talents," silver dollars are distributed among the members, to be increased and gathered in at a later date. He also commended the Rev. Allen J. Downey, vicar, for St. Martin's active participation in diocesan and national church affairs.

Indians Roar For Title Cinch Against Cap

By Roy Hurlbert

Brave Eddie Leveroni and eight other Indians stampede into San Bruno this Friday afternoon to take the scalp of Capuchino for the 1957 North Peninsula Athletic League championship.

Barring bad weather, Chief Steve Mezzera will know by 5 p.m. if his boys are the champions he tabs them to be.

In the loop's long history, no other campaign has been waged to such a pressure-popping climax.

Slays Knights

Senior Ed's two-hit nifty Tuesday put the Tribe in front of the five-team rat-race. He strangled jittery Hillsdale at Marchbanks. This crucial, coupled with idleness of the three other challengers, shot Jeff a half-game in front with two to go.

The possibilities are staggering. Even if righthander Gene Tagliaferri beats the Indians this Friday, Mezzerari's squad could take the title. They could do so by whipping lowly Burlingame there in a make-up Tuesday, providing San Mateo stops Hillsdale this Friday.

Hillsdale (7-4), however, could sneak in if the Knights win their final pair and the Tribe drops the Cap tingler and Blingum affair.

South City (6-5), Cap and San Mateo aren't out of the chase mathematically. But only a longshot letdown by both Jeff and Hillsdale would bring a fantastic five-way tie for first.

Leveroni Sharp

Everything rests with Leveroni and the backing his regulars supply against Cap. When Ed's good, he's very, very good. His fast ball blazed past the Knights as he notched another low-hit performance. Right now, he heads the loop in strikeouts, and scribes up and down the circuit think he's the best.

Mezzera could try junior Paul Tapia, 2-0 in the league and a kid with guts when the heat is on. But Leveroni, who hasn't worked a really "bad" game in more than a dozen starts, gets the duty.

Offensively and defensively, he's backed by three other solid All-North PAL candidates. No sportswriter worth his salt can deny the comparative value of catcher Bill Strassburger, second sacker Ino Patron and first baseman Barry Haanen. Each has sparked the pennant fuse.

Add outfielders Del Scott, .500 at the plate, Tom Cloutier and Gary Ryan, plus infielders Leroy Franzoia and Mike Wedlake, and the title combination is there aplenty.

Familiar Guy

Leveroni outhurled Tagliaferri, Cap's fine junior, earlier at Marchbanks in a 1-0 duel. Don LeClerque, Mustang mentor, says his Gene was never sharper than he is this week. Cap also may surprise with sophomore Lefty Weber, a lad with all the trimmings. Second to Leveroni for whiffs.

But come what may, Friday's battle is the turning point. Mezzera, first year at the helm, tells his troops to win one at a time. The Cap tilt means more to the Tribe than any other. And they don't figure to blow to opportunity.

Cap has a bevy of beefy batters to unnerve Leveroni. But so did Hillsdale, and Ed survived in fine shape, getting by the power boys with ease.

Brisbane Touch

Scott and Strassburger, both Brisbaners, drove in two of Jeff's three runs Tuesday. These came in the first and third frames, during which walks by the shaky Knight tosser aided his downfall. Singles by Leveroni and Franzoia triggered Jeff's final run in the fourth. Leveroni led off with a hit, Patron walked, then Franzoia came through. With the bases jammed, Haanen fanned, but Strassburger worked the lad for another base on balls to bring in Leveroni.

Strassburger's long double in the third, chasing home Franzoia, was the big clout of the afternoon.

JEFF chances for its first North PAL pennant since 1954 hinge this Friday on these unquestionable all-league candidates. Left to right: catcher Bill Strassburger, shortstop Ino Patron, hurler Ed Leveroni, and first baseman Barry Haanen. Ino and Barry made the list last year. Big hurdle for the Indians is Capuchino. Go to work, boys! THE RECORD photo

Ram Baseballers Clobber O'Connell In Finals, 17-3

Slingshot Ray West and his Westmoor varsity baseball mates flattened O'Connell Tech by a 17-3 count Friday as the Rams closed their first season with a blast.

West's route-going effort, his sixth hill win against three setbacks, gave Dutch Meyer's nine a commendable 10-7 record.

North PAL foes will do well to respect the Daly City newcomers next year. Judging by Ram efforts this campaign (playing a jayvee-type slate), Westmoor will be strong in its league debut season.

Ray Rapid

West, coming into his own in mid-season, choked the in-Marchbanks on three hits, whiffing 10 and yielding not one base on balls.

His comrades rapped 10 hits, which with eight Tech bobbles combined to spell the landslide. Outfielder Gary Pederson and West each sliced three hits in the lopsided spectacle.

Big frame for the Meyer minions was the fifth, when they sprinted for eight runs after already dotting the scoreboard with a like number. Final Ram tally came in the sixth. The visitors failed to halt the deluge with three hurlers.

Meyer's successor next spring, Pete Matisi, will have plenty of muscle to build around.

Four Belters

Final Westmoor charts showed no less than four regulars batting over the .300 mark. Infielder Sid Swanson, converted catcher, led the 14-man roster with a husky .400 for 45 at bats.

Strong-wristed Pederson finished at .386, while West, who once roamed short, belted .359, and Dave Simons, number two moundsman, clouted .339 at the third sack.

Mild opposition might make the Westmoor plate marks deceiving, but Meyer knows more tha na handful of regulars have the goods to rank in North PAL action come '58.

Call The Cops

Sample of the club's hustle came in the stolen base department. The Rams pulled some 189 burglaries. Swanson as top dasher with 42, followed by Pederson's 31, Simmons' 20 and West's 18.

Swanson, naturally, was voted team captain for his all-around efforts.

Two good tidings:

1. Nine Rams have another year of ball remaining. Other five will be juniors.

2. Outfielder-catcher Bob Roller, one of the sophs, will return to duty after a shoulder separation. Ted lad is still in the hospital for repairs.

3 Jeff Trackers In NCS Affair

Three Jeff High tracksters go after the big boys this Saturday in the North Coast Section championships at University of California.

Qualifying last Friday in the NCS trials at Los Gatos were Indians Jeff Chase, Felix Valdez and Len Lamendola.

Chase, a strong senior, climbed to fourth in the pole vault with a 12-foot ascension. Soph Valdez captured third in the 1320, and soph Len Lamendola tied for fourth spot in the 440. Lamendola's time, 51.3, was his best.

Longshot Len

Boss Bob Watt regards Lamendola as Jeff's best hope at Berkeley. The quick-strider has all the markings of a champion. If not this time, he'll hit par next season.

Cops Rush Plans For Sport Loop

Plans for a Daly City "Police Athletic League" are shaping up quickly following a recent organizational meet here by members of the department.

Although only nine local law officers could make it to the confab, the kickoff session served its purpose. Principal speaker was W. M. Carroza of Menlo Park, one of the founders of the outstanding New York City Police Athletic League.

Expert Explains

Carroza explained purposes and shortcuts in forming the organization here. Briefly, the PAL will find DC policemen supervising and sponsoring a full sports program for local youngsters.

Typical sports to be conducted, on an individual and team basis, will be boxing, wrestling, tumbling, basketball, baseball, et cetera. Entire project, a continuous thing, will be coordinated with the city recreation department.

By-laws and a charter for the DCPAL are being drawn up by Frank Blum, city attorney. Second meeting of the new group is planned next week.

Key Figures

Temporary officers are John Coleman, president; Charles Terry, vice president; Frank Murray, director, and Josephine Runne, secretary.

Eligible to join the unit are all members of Daly City's police regulars, reserves and special officers.

"About 25 regulars have shown a strong interest for this type program," Coleman said. "Once we get the preliminaries settled, we'll be ready to start."

Tribe Linksmen Eye PAL Gravy In San Jose Go

Five Jefferson golfers travel to the San Jose Country Club lawn next Monday to swing in the PAL championships.

Mike Orlich's linksters had a lukewarm 2-3-1 North PAL record, but individually they could pull some corkers in the finale.

Going for the Daly City squad against the PAL's finest will be Wayne Guisti, Al Harris, Dave Scatena and Vic Shannon. Riding along as alternate will be Jack Klinger.

Guisti's best effort of the campaign was when he nipped Hillsdale's Keith Mattos at Lake Merced in a rousing match won by the locals. Mattos, Northern California junior champ, will seek revenge Monday.

Daly City Cops Stage Pistol Showdown Sunday

Daly City's gendarmes are oiling their shooting irons for Sunday's third annual intra-department pistol championships at the Ottoboni range in Colma.

"Enthusiasm was never better," pronounced Officer Jim Welsh, the man in charge of the event. "Rivalry between our shifts is at a peak."

The firing, following the standard Camp Perry course, starts at 10 a.m. When the feuding is over, each member of the winning team and runnerup squad will get trophies. Top shooter will have his name inscribed on the department's perpetual trophy, donated by the Daly City-Lions.

Perfect score is 300, but even Chief Roland Petrocchi is doubtful one of his watchmen will chalk it up.

Welsh, with the corps since 1944, won individual honors in '55, while last year the nod went to Jim Sunderland. Welsh had a 268, Sunderland a 267.

Shifts entered are the day, swing and graveyard units. Rewarding practice for the men who protect our town round-the-clock.

INDIANAPOLIS CLASSIC

DC Florist Sweats '500'

Can you imagine a situation where 142 miles an hour in an auto might not be fast enough?

George Bignotti, Daly City florist, and thousands of other racing fans could tell you the answer—it's at the Indianapolis Speedway, which next Thursday will be the site for the annual Memorial Day "500" race.

Bignotti, a racing car owner and mechanic from way back, is sweating it out today in advance of this weekend's final qualifying—only 33 of the big cars are eligible.

Two Entries

The local florist, in conjunction with Bowes Seal Fast Co., has two cars jockeying for spots in this years' classic. Last weekend Freddie Agabashian drove one of them on the 10-mile qualifying sprint at an average speed of 142.557 miles on hour. Bignotti's other driver, Johnny Boyd, finished right behind with a 10-mile average of 142.102. As of last weekend's try-out runs, the two times were well up among the top in the battle for a racing spot and positions near the pole. Best trial speed was Pat O'Connor's 143.948.

The 142-mph speeds should stand up even after this weekend's qualifying, but they're definitely no cinch.

Hometown Foursome

Also on tenterhooks with Bignotti are four of his pit crew members from this area—Charlie Tabucchi, 479 Woodrow street; "Sparki" Gladi, 2542 San Jose avenue; Frank Catania and Norman Rapp. Such an auto enthusiast is Rapp that he quit his job for the Indianapolis trip, after the boss wouldn't give him time off.

George had bad luck last year when his car developed oil line trouble, forcing his vehicle out early in the race.

But Agabashian and Boyd are old campaigners (Fred is making his 11th start, Boyd his third), and Bignotti, like all owners and drivers in the world's "biggest" race, always hope "this is the year."

Wife Optimistic

As Carol Bignotti, George's enthusiastic wife, says, "Freddie is due this year."

George is no newcomer to championships. As a midget car owner, he's won most of the major crowns on the West coast. And Agabashian was in the drivers seat in most of his winning campaigns.

Fred and George could click for the winning combination—providing their qualifying time holds up.

And don't forget, Boyd will be hanging in there, too.

Jeff, Ram 11's Drill Next Week

Jefferson and Westmoor grid hopefuls report for 10-days of "no-contract" spring training next Monday under a new set-up authorized by the Peninsula Athletic League.

Sessions will be devoted to fundamentals and plays, sans equipment and hard knocks.

Jeff coach Joe McGrath won't get rolling until late next week since several of his candidates are still playing baseball.

Newcomer Pete Matisi, the Serra mentor who takes over this fall for Westmoor's Dutch Meyer, will be on hand to look-see his young Rams. The Westmoorites make their league debut next semester.

Matisi and Meyer will get a helping hand from aides Will Stensland, Floyd Gonella and Rod Losberger.

McGrath's assistants will be Steve Mezzera and Bob Watt, for the training at least.

Westmoor has eight games carded, two of them exhibitions. Rams open September 27 at Willow Glen.

Westlake Softball Resumes On Sunday

Scratched last week because of the mud, softballers in the hesitant Westlake League report to the post again this Sunday for three tilts.
